

We welcome you to join us for the NLN Clinical Focus Group on Compression facilitated by Kris Nesheim, OTR/L, CLT-LANA.

Please join Kris in discussing the various challenges and techniques appropriate in the home care setting. All lymphedema therapists of varying settings, geographic location, and discipline are welcome.

We encourage submission of questions or topics for discussion via email at continuingeducation@lymphnet.org.

These are not recorded, therefore they are not accessible at a later date.

Kris Nesheim holds a Bachelors in Occupational Therapy from the University of Florida. She received her lymphedema certification from the Norton School of Lymphatic Therapy in 2008 and started her Lymphedema career as an outpatient at the Elliot Health System in Manchester, NH. When it became evident that several patients could not make it into the clinic for treatment, she transitioned into providing Lymphedema services full time in the Home Health setting.

Kris currently works for the Granite VNA, the largest home health agency in New Hampshire. She also leads a Lymphedema work group for home health lymphedema therapists through the Home Care Association in NH to allow for education and collaboration among home care therapists.
