

Dalit Geller, OTR/L, CLT-LANA

Dalit is an Occupational Therapist with over 25 years experience . She works at Fox Chase Cancer Center in Philadelphia, PA. She became interested in cancer care after her mother was diagnosed with Pancreatic cancer. At that time, she realized the enormous distress and horrendous effects of cancer and its treatment and vowed to do whatever she can to help cancer patients. At Fox Chase, she works primarily in the outpatient clinic providing lymphedema care, and cancer rehab. She is also a member of several committees, a lymphedema support group, and involved in research projects. Outside of work, she has been volunteering at the Philadelphia chapter of Pancreatic Cancer Action Network for the past twenty years.
